Office of Energy and Mineral Resources

The State Energy Loan Program Application Period Will Close on Dec. 31, 2022

The Governor's Office of Energy and Mineral Resources (OEMR) State Energy Loan Program provides financing options available to individuals and corporations interested in installing energy efficiency upgrades to residential and/or commercial buildings by offering low interest rates and flexible payment plans.

The State Energy Loan Program offers low-interest loans to develop energy projects for homes and businesses located within Idaho. Energy projects can consist of HVAC replacements, efficient lighting replacement, insulation, windows, weatherization, appliances, and renewable energy projects. Consumers may choose to leverage loans by accessing utility incentives and federal and state tax credits and deductions, if available.

The application period for the State Energy Loan Program will close on December 31, 2022.

The application period will reopen in Summer of 2023.
